Sewer Authority Adopts Controversial Plan-- Warning Given That Delay May Balloon Taxes

The waters are still roiling this week following last Wednesday's 5-1 decision by the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority to settle for a one-plant system, the so-called "Plan A."

The dissenting municipality was Princeton Township, represented by William Starr. Hopewell Borough's representative on the Authority, John Klaussner, was absent.

These were the developments this week:

● Gus Escher, Princeton Borough's finance chairman, will get Borough and Township officials together in a mid-September meeting.

"The financial liability is eating at me!" Mr. Escher exclaimed this week.

● Tristam B. Johnson, bond underwriter for the Authority, issued a statement warning that continued controversy and its attendant delay, will mean a financial debacle.

"Delay means playing Russian roulette with the tax rate of every taxpayer in the Authority service area," he declared.

● Princeton Township Committee will act this Thursday, in a special meeting, on a resolution declaring the Authority acted without adequate information, and urging the state's Department of Environmental protection to review the single-plant decision.

"It's obvious the Authority is working with soft figures," said Committee member Margaret Broadwater.

● Hopewell Township has voted $4,500 for court action to keep Plan A's long sewer line out of the Township. Hopewell fears uncontrolled population explosion if Plan A's sewer line is laid.

"If this plan is approved, we're dead," Hopewell Township Committee member Gary B. Hammond has said.

Approval Essential. The next step, after Wednesday's decision, is approval by the state's DEP and the Federal government's Environmental Protection Agency. These approvals must be granted before the Authority can receive Federal money to pay for 75 percent of whatever construction costs are eligible.

"As a condition of that grant," Mr. Johnson emphasizes, "the Authority had to agree, in writing to complete the total project for all seven municipalities WHETHER OR NOT ANY FUTURE AID WAS RECEIVED FROM THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT."

And Federal funding for the EPA act stopped June 30. Congress hasn't passed any legislation to provide more.

"It's hard to believe Congress won't pass SOMETHING," Mr. Johnson believes, "but it probably will be different. Clearly, Congress will vote no money at all for collector systems."

New Jersey still has $350 million left in its original Federal allocation, but $150 million worth of projects have already been certified.

New Jersey has a priority list of 90 projects. Stony Brook is about Number 25. But the Passaic Valley Sewer Commission is in fifth place, and if it gets certification, it will eat up all remaining construction grant money for New Jersey.

Nov. 2 Vote Crucial. The state had promised to pay the Authority 15 percent, but reneged last December. However, the state will make a flat 8 percent contribution IF a $120 million bond issue passes in November. If voters turn it down -- no state money at all for the Authority.

"Time is the key," urges Mr. Johnson, "the determination by EPA that a further environmental impact statement is necessary will be based on the extent of 'controversy' remaining in the project. It is essential this agreement be reached within the short time remaining before Federal funds expire."

Gus Escher, who has talked often with Mr. Johnson, says, "If Tris is 100 percent on the dime, there's an enormously serious problem out there."

Limited Access. Two items of controversy are pipe size and the future growth of Hopewell Township. Pipe costs represent only 5 percent of the total, Mr. Johnson says.

Regarding Hopewell's concern, the Authority has based its planning on a so-called "limited access concept." This means that nobody, no "entity" except a municipality, can apply to the Authority for permission to hook into its sewer pipes.

"No developer, no industrial concern, no individual," Mr. Johnson emphasizes, "can make that application. This is in the service agreements with the municipalities, and its in the bond prospectus."

"It's the town's own ordinances that are its defense against growth it doesn't want," Mr. Johnson points out.

How the Sewer Problem Has Flowed, Year by Year

Built in 1932, Princeton's sewer treatment plant was working over its capacity by 1955 and studies were begun to plan for expansion.

West Windsor started planning for sewer facilities in 1958, and Pennington had a check in hand for its own plant in 1964. But all efforts by individual communities have repeatedly been deferred because the state believes regional sewerage treatment is cheaper and would be better managed.

In 1973, the original concern for pollution began to be replaced, in Mr. Johnson's view, concern for the secondary impacts of construction. In 1974, New Jersey's DEP and the Federal EPA – environmental offices at state and Federal levels – agreed to divide the Stony Brook project into downstream and upstream service and plans were made to proceed right away to build a 10-million-gallon-per-day treatment plant on River Road in Princeton.

Everybody agreed the new plant would have to be supplemented by at least 2.5 million more gallons a day capacity by the early 1980s based on the addition of service to Plainsboro, Rocky Hill and the parts of Franklin and Montgomery that tie in the Stony Brook-Millstone watershed, and solving the upstream communities' problems.

The Federal government, on June 30, 1975, awarded a grant for 75 percent of the eligible costs for the treatment plant and the Millstone Pumping Station, but not for connecting pipes.

The bond issue was sold in November, 1975. The next month, the state announced there would be no state aid.

Construction of the new plant is on schedule and completion is expected by November, 1977. After that date, the plant will cost, Mr. Johnson estimates, $40,000 per month. He points out that the cost will be incurred WHETHER THE PLANT IS IN SERVICE OR NOT.

As bond underwriter, Mr. Johnson points out that the Authority's bonds, general obligation bonds, are backed by the taxing power of the Authority's municipalities.

"Since the bonds must be supported by the full faith and credit taxing power," he says, "there can be no service provided to any entity that can't levy taxes."

In short, it's up to Hopewell Township to do what it wishes – or does not wish – with the sewer line.

Warning Issued. Monday night at Princeton Township Committee's meeting, Township resident William Cherry characterized the limited access concept as "relying on probability, not certainty."

Committee's four present members agreed with Mrs. Broadwater that the Authority was using "soft" figures, and Mr. Cherry complained that it was "frustrating" to find any cost figures from the Authority.

Committee member Elizabeth Hutter said figures from Metcalf and Eddy, the Authority's engineers, were five times those from the Weston consulting firm (adjusted by the DEP) for upgrading package treatment plants under the three-plant "Plan X," which Mrs. Hutter and others on Committee would prefer.

"This is just one set of figures, but it makes you wonder about vagueness in other figures," she protested.

She also said there were no figures showing the cost of the three-plant "Plan X" if Hopewell Township joined, although the cost for Plan X is an estimated $500,000 more than Plan A. Hopewell, which doesn't like Plan A, has said it is interested in Plan X.

One reason for choosing Plan A is that the Authority believes it will cost $400,000 a year less to operate than other plans.

Also, the Authority thinks Hopewell will eventually have to have sewers. It's cheaper to do it now, the Authority says, than to wait. And whenever Hopewell should decide it wants sewers, the entire Authority will have to bear the cost.

Pollution Foreseen. Another Township resident, H. Philip Minis, chairman of the municipality's Environmental Commission, protested "the failure of the Authority to consider spray irrigation. The Authority plans to incinerate, which means, Mr. Minis said, "using energy to pollute the air and get rid of an asset."

Sludge could be trucked from the treatment plant and sold to fertilize sod farms, golf courses, playing fields and seed crops, he said.

Mr. Johnson has twice been to Washington with West Windsor officials, conferring with Congresswomen Millicent Fenwick, with Senator Clifford P. Case and, for two hours, with EPA officials.

He is also eager to help Mr. Escher with his meeting. Mr. Escher hopes Mr. Johnson; Thomas Cawley, the engineer who is the Borough's Authority representative, and a representative from the environmentalists, can join municipal officials.

"If everyone can get the same information," Mr. Escher said, "an answer can pretty clearly be put forward."

Patterson to Retire

Lawrence Patterson, who has been collecting the taxes of Borough taxpayers for 21 years, will retire December 31. He hastily reassured an alarmed Council, however, that he will probably stay through January to help with the budget.

In the Borough, the offices of tax collector and treasurer reside in the same person. The collector is an elected official, the treasurer an appointed one. Mayor Robert W. Cawley said, at last Tuesday's Council meeting, that both Democrats and Republicans will search for someone to hold both jobs, ask the candidate to choose a party label to run under, and then provide joint backing and no opposition candidate.

Township Will Seek Federal Funds to Expand Public Library; Residents Ask Ban against Deer Hunting with Bow and Arrow

Township Committee decided Monday night to shoot for Federal money to expand the Public Library, but declined to draw the bow just yet on an ordinance banning bow and arrow hunting. It was a night devoted -- sometimes at length -- to municipal miscellany.

For the first time in Princeton history -- Township or Borough -- a woman presided as mayor. In the absence of vacationing Mayor Jay Bleiman, Committee member Margaret Broadwater, as the senior member of the majority party, was Acting Mayor.

The historic event was formally noticed by her colleague, Elizabeth Hutter, who would herself have become mayor if last year's election had been awarded to the Republicans.

Conrad Snowden, chairman of the library's building committee, would like to see whether Princeton can get Federal funds to expand the library under the new Public Works Employment Act.

Formula for Funds. Any construction-ready project is eligible, reported Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini, but a community needs a 6.5 percent unemployment figure to qualify. According to Trenton, the Township has 5.8 percent, although Mr. Nini said he was startled at the figure, because his own estimates show less than 4 percent, and Federal officials don't usually have statistics on communities with fewer than 50,000 people.

For any construction project in Princeton, Committee member Abbot Low Moffat pointed out, workers would come from outside, anyway, quite probably from Trenton, whose unemployment rate is high.

If Township figures were averaged with those of the Borough, since the library is a joint operation, and if Federal officials decide to consider larger units, like a county, as the qualifying entity, Committee members felt that Princeton might have a chance. New Jersey as a whole will have $250,000,000 of this money. The library project is $700,000.

"I'm not optimistic," Mr. Nini said.

Margaret Broadwater

Committee decided to authorize the library's application, emphasizing that this doesn't mean a commitment to expansion, if Federal money doesn't come through. (Borough Council, according to Administrator Robert F. Mooney, hasn't yet had a chance to discuss Mr. Snowden's letter.)

Arrow Hunting Protested. Non-hunters on Committee learned that bow and arrow hunters usually hunt deer from platforms in trees, shooting downward as the buck passes. This is safer, hunters said, than shooting straight ahead, and they told Committee there have been no arrow accidents in the Township.

The question arose because John Winant, Mrs. Rene Leon, Donald McClure, Alex Ettl, Mrs. Grace Lambert, David McAplin and George R. Cook III, all residents of the area around The Great Road, Drakes Corner Road or Rosedale, have asked for a ban on arrow hunting.

Robert Yurcho, 58 Cedar Lane, said he didn't think the state would let a municipality pass such an ordinance, and suggested that prosecution for trespass might solve the problem. He also warned that the deer population has exploded since the Township banned the discharge of firearms, and asked how deer could be controlled.

Joseph Trani, a former Princeton resident, explained that bow and arrow hunters must pass a state test and be licensed by the Fish and Game Commission. He claimed that arrows were a quicker and deadlier way to kill a deer than, say, hitting one with a car. The state allows a hunter one deer per year by bow and arrow, he said, adding that members of the Antlers Club in Princeton shoot only bucks.

Later, in Committee's work session, attorney Gordon Griffin said Mr. Yurcho was right: hunting is controlled by the state.

"You can't regulate hunting directly, but you can do it by prohibiting discharge -- as in the firearms ordinance," Mr. Griffin advised.

Land Use. In another part of the forest, Mr. Griffin told Committee he will have, by next Monday's 8 p.m. work session a draft ordinance related to the state's new land use law.

It will cover Planning Board, Zoning Board, administrative procedures, Master Plans, an official map and so on. Although the law took effect August 1, municipalities have until February 1 to bring their own ordinances into line.

Acting on the advice of Mr. Nini -- but not reluctantly at all -- Committee in its work session agreed to drop plans for working on The Great Road, Section III (from the old-and-new intersection, north to Ridgeview.)

Abandonment means losing $18,000 in state aid, Engineer Joseph Hodak pointed out. He had planned a "minimum" of widening, he told Committee. Mr. Nini, reminding Committee that residents of the area don't want any widening at all, said he didn't think there was any point in doing the work.

Committee did agree to ask whether Lawrence Township is as willing in August as it was in May to share the cost of repairing Province Line in the Pheasant Hill-Pretty Brook area. A letter from Lawrence in May, Mr. Nini reported, had said the township was willing to share.

Light at Cherry Valley. The intersection of Route 206 and Cherry Valley Road, marked by a blinking yellow light, needs an honest traffic light, the state has finally decided. Princeton Township has felt this way all along but has never been able to persuade the state.

The light will cost $14,000. The state will pay 75 percent and Princeton and Montgomery Townships will divide the remainder, for a cost of $1,750 to each. If New Jersey gets Federal money for the job, the state alone will pay whatever remains. Montgomery will pay all the

Meeting Dates Changed

Starting in September, Township Committee will meet the second, third and fourth Thursday evenings of the month instead of on Mondays as at present.

The reason is that Committee member Margaret Broadwater will be teaching on Monday and Wednesday evenings in University College, Rutgers. Mrs. Broadwater, on the brink of receiving her doctorate in American constitutional law ("Labor and the First Amendment" is her thesis), will teach a two-semester course in American Constitutional Development on Monday evenings and a one-semester course, Issues in Public Policy on Wednesdays.

She will also teach a daytime, one-semester course in American Constitutional Law.

September meeting dates for Committee are September 9, 16 and 23.

Hudibras

Time . . . and Again (No. 3)

The illustrious Hudibras Tavern in Princeton was host to John Adams for a weekend in August of 1774 on his way to the Continental Congress, then convening in Trenton. The visit occasioned his meeting John Witherspoon, President of the College of New Jersey (and later to be a signer of the Declaration of Independence with Adams), whom Adams described in his diary as "A clear, sensible Preacher . . ." and "as high a Son of Liberty, as any Man in America." The Committee of Safety for the Colony of New Jersey met at the Hudibras at least once, on January 9, 1776, during that crucial era.

A new Hudibras is coming to historic Princeton. Across the thoroughfare from its 1760s predecessor, the new Hudibras will evoke the old, but with a modern touch of informal dining and entertainment. Local clientele and travelers are invited to relax in its lounge and dining room.

light bills and operating costs, Mr. Nini reported in some surprise.

Committee agreed to the project, but only if it doesn't involve a financial outlay this year when there is no money for it in the budget.

When H. Philip Minis, Environmental Commission chairman, asked for $70,000 for Basin Park development, Committee decided it wanted firmer details and plans.

Mr. Minis said he was virtually assured by the state of 50 percent funding by Green Acres because the state is anxious to see Basin Park – on Lower Alexander Street by the canal – developed as a pilot project. Mr. Nini warned Committee to lay down priorities in seeking Green Acres money.

Committee passed an ordinance limiting trucks on Lovers Lane to five tons. The measure was requested by the Borough. Since the opening of the Route One shopping centers, the Borough has reported an increase in heavy truck-traffic through the town.

ROBBERS TORPEDOED

At Suh Shop. An attempted armed robbery Thursday evening at Aljon's Sub Shop, 157 Witherspoon Street, failed because of the quick-thinking of the lone clerk on duty.

According to police, the clerk, who they declined to identify, was alone behind the counter when two men walked in around 8:30. They placed an order.

As the clerk was filling the order, police continued, one of the two drew a chrome-plated revolver, threw a bag at him and demanded that he fill it with money. Unflustered, the clerk told the pair to leave because he had just sounded a burglar alarm. At that, police said, the two suspects fled north on Witherspoon.

Ptl. William Fitch, Ptl. James Agins and Sgt. Thomas Michaud responded to an 8:47 call and searched the area without success. Both suspects were described as 18 to 22 and dark complected. One had an Afro, weighed between 160 and 180 and was wearing a black shirt open at the neck. The second suspect was also wearing a dark shirt, police said.

CAR SNAPS POLE

On Alexander Street. Naomi Ricks, 44, 116 Vine Street, Trenton, was injured Tuesday shortly after noon when her car struck - and snapped - a telephone pole on lower Alexander Street near the Rusty Scupper restaurant.

She was taken by the Princeton First Aid Squad to Princeton Medical Center for treatment of lacerations to her head and mouth and possible internal injuries. There were no witnesses to the mishap.

Ms. Ricks was rounding a curve, apparently on her way to the Princeton Inn where she is a food service worker. There were no skid marks.

The impact pushed the pole forward about eight inches and two thirds of it fell across busy Alexander, causing traffic delays. It was pushed off the roadway by a small loader of the Princeton Waste Metal Company, located nearby at 409 Alexander.

Ms. Ricks' 1967 sedan was judged a total loss. As police worked at the scene, one of the officers commented, "Alexander Street claims another."

Sgt. David Potts investigated the mishap. Until he finishes his investigation, traffic charges are pending.

"WE GOOFED"

Robeson Place to Be Extended. Borough Council didn't realize that Avalon Place stops at Chambers and doesn't continue to Witherspoon, so when the name was changed earlier this summer to Paul Robeson Place, the half of the intended street, known as Wiggins, was inadvertently left out.

Last week, Council introduced the ordinance to make the whole length of the street into Paul Robeson Place. Public hearing will be held Tuesday, September 14.

Mercer Metro will run its new buses for Princeton starting Labor Day, at the earliest; no later than September 13. Sydney Taggert's job of co-ordinator was extended to October 1 to help launch Metro.

Sticker-parking for Borough residents who have no driveways will be available before long on the spot where the old Borough Hall used to stand. Now owned by the Seminary, the land will accommodate 27 cars, said Council member Nelson van den Blink. She said the Seminary is expected to return its copy of the agreement shortly.

The Chamber of Commerce asked Council to create a Parking Authority to work at solving the Borough's traffic problem.

Ike Ballard, 60 Murray Place, was named to the Joint Recreation Board. Michele Harrison, 32 Bank, and John Bleimeier, 32 Hawthorne, were appointed to the Civil Rights Commission.

Constance Escher, 34 Pine, was named an alternate member of the Historic Sites Commission.

POCKETBOOK GRABBED

By Sneak Thief. Between 5:30 and midnight Saturday, a thief entered an Evelyn Place home and made off with a pocketbook containing a red leather wallet ($75 inside), a $100 traveler's check and a check book.

The wallet was later found in the front yard of an adjoining house, minus the money and check.

A Witherspoon Street resident lost a $25 radio and $15 in change from a container when a thief entered the victim's apartment by way of a second-floor kitchen window.

Police placed the theft between 8 Friday evening and 1 Saturday morning.

Having produced a bumper crop of rain during the first week, August now seems intent on matching it with extra helpings of sunshine. Combined as it has been with unusually low humidity, the resultant dish has been suited to just about everyone's taste.

All of this will last a while, the Man says, a gradually warming trend pushing the thermometer back to the mid 80s for Thursday and Friday readings. For a change, however, a generally fair and dry weekend is in store.

late inspection violation. Judge Philip Carchman added another $5 for contempt of court after Mrs. Moore failed to appear for an earlier court schedule.

Her son, Scott M. Moore, was fined $15 for speeding. Clinton D. Moore, of the same address, was also fined $15 for speeding. Jack Felmao, Jamestown Road, Belle Mead paid $30 for a stop-sign infraction.

SECEDE?

Now, Just a Minute..... All three Hopewell Valley communities – Hopewell Borough and Township and Pennington – report a sudden spurt of concern on the part of Mercer County since the exasperated proposal, a couple of months ago, that all three secede from Mercer County and "re-align" with Hunterdon.

At the same time, Pennington's Council has announced that it won't allow any more prolonged debate until a "balanced, objective" board representing all three towns, has produced a thorough analysis of secession.

Mayor Frances C. Friedermann of Hopewell Township reported last week that Mercer County Executive Arthur Sypek told her the county planned to spend over $200,000 on county roads that go through the township.

Mrs. Friedermann, like Mercer County's Freeholders, is a Democrat. She is reported to have said that perhaps Christopher Bannister, Hopewell Township Committee member, Republican, and pioneer in the secessionist movement, had had some effect on her fellow Democrats in Trenton.

Banish I-95! Mr. Bannister said he's received calls from township residents pointing to "all the county road crews working out here all of a sudden."

"It's nice to finally see a little in return for our tax dollars," Mr. Bannister said. "Now, we'll have to see if the county responds to our substantive concerns: taking I-95 off their Master Plan, for example. It would be a nice gesture on their part especially since we've been fighting that monstrosity for 14 years."

Freeholder Eugene Howard has twice attended Pennington Borough Council meetings. Nobody could recall that a Freeholder had ever come to a Pennington municipal meeting.

In July, he urged Pennington not to send a representative to a secession committee Mr. Bannister was forming, but Council decided to, anyway. Later, he went to another Council meeting and persuaded the governing body not to endorse a petition asking for a special, non-binding referendum on the secession.

Future Plans. Freeholder Howard also told Council about his hope that Ewing Township's solid waste disposal plant can be rebuilt to accommodate Ewing, Trenton, the two Princetons, the two Hopewells, Lawrence - - and Pennington.

The Pennington landfill will reach its capacity in slightly under two years, according to Ezra Bixby, Pennington Council president.

Mr. Howard, however, acknowledged that he didn't know how much it would cost Pennington to join, or when the plant would be rebuilt and operating.

Hopewell Borough Mayor William H. Walker said Robert A. Carmignani, Mercer County's new director of public works, had called him five times in a week. Mayor Walker told him the borough's roads were in good shape except for Route 518, which is a county road serving as Hopewell's main street.

"Hell, I've been involved with council for ten years and never heard from anybody in Trenton before," Mayor Walker said.

"There has been no special effort on my part to contact anyone," Mr. Carmignani has replied, "I've called all 13 Mercer County mayors, talking with them about roads and maintenance problems."

TRUCK IS DESTROYED

When Gas Tanks Explode. A 16,000-pound flatbed truck was totally destroyed last Wednesday morning after one of its gas tanks fell to the Springdale roadway, caught fire and exploded.

The driver, John Tucker of Kennett Square, Pa., who had stopped his truck and fled when he realized the danger, escaped injury. A general alarm was sounded and police evacuated all homes in the immediate area and detoured traffic because of the possibility of another tank exploding. Eventually, all three gas tanks on the truck blew up.

Pfl. William Hunter and Pfl. Peter Hanley responded to a 10:50 call from a Springdale Road resident that a truck was on fire. According to police,

"THANK YOU"

We know it is not needed. All those who helped plan and/or participated in the third annual Senior Citizens Picnic received their thanks from the more than 450 smiling faces in attendance. To some of those seniors it was the first outing in years, to others a chance to renew old acquaintances, to all an enjoyable afternoon.

So many individuals helped make the Senior Citizens Picnic successful that it is impossible to send out our personal thanks to each. But to all who assisted in making the day the delight that it was, we want to say "Thank You".

PROCLAIMS "HOUSING DAY": Marking the first anniversary this Sunday of Princeton Community Village, the Borough, through its acting mayor Martin P. Lombardo (center) has proclaimed Sunday "Princeton Borough Commitment to Low and Moderate Income Housing Day." In his proclamation, Mr. Lombardo, praises both Township Committee and Township residents for "leadership and cooperation" in making the Village a reality. With waiting lists at both the Village and Lloyd Terrace housing for the elderly, Mr. Lombardo says Council has asked Princeton Community Housing "to review all Borough properties for housing need." With Mr. Lombardo at Lloyd Terrace are Council member Marvin Trotman, of Council's housing committee; Katherine DeGrezia and Fenny Ruegg, both Lloyd residents, and Council member Jan Schneier, head of Council's housing committee.

one of the 25-gallon "saddle" gas tanks on either side of the truck fell loose from its mounting. Sparks flew as it was dragged along. The driver told police later that he had heard a noise but continued on before he realized his truck was on fire, leaving a 200-foot trail of flames.

Before Princeton's firemen were able to extinguish the fire with foam, the other saddle tank and a third under the seat ignited. The mishap took place near the intersection of Springdale and College Road.

Owned by John Ober, Inc. of Voorhees, the truck was carrying portable, outside toilets. There was only one on the truck at the time.

YOUTH PROGRAM SET

And Township Attacked. A new program aimed at involving Borough youngsters, grades 8 through 12, in local government was announced Tuesday, and acting Borough mayor Martin P. Lombardo – Mayor Robert W. Cawley is on vacation -- took the opportunity at a press conference to attack once again the Township's court action against the state's school cost-sharing formula.

All Borough students in grades 8-12, private and public schools, will be invited, by letter, to a meeting in Borough Hall Thursday, September 9, at 7:30 to hear details of the youth-involvement program.

Basically, as outlined by Todd Zapolski, last year's Student Council president at Princeton High, serving on a steering committee with Borough Council member Marvin Trotman, Royce Flippin, also PHS '76 and Mr. Lombardo, the idea is to have two young people as liaison on all Borough boards -- including Council.

Youths will be asked to tell which boards they would be prefer, but actual selection will be made by the committee to obtain a cross section of the community.

"Maybe they can shake up some of the dead wood on these boards," Mr. Flippin commented.

Program Outlined. Mr. Lombardo said the program envisioned in-training sessions, trips to the legislature or to Washington and frequent meetings with the steering committee.

Young participants will be expected to attend all board meetings Mr. Lombardo said, and to elicit information from other young people in town about things they'd like to see volunteer boards accomplish.

Mr. Lombardo, who said he was "concerned about polarization in the community" because of the Township's school cost-sharing court action, said owners of $60,000 homes in the Borough could expect a tax increase from $3,012 to $3,310 if the Township wins. Gus Escher, Borough finance chairman who attended the press conference, estimated an 11 percent increase in real estate taxes if the Township wins.

Citing the overwhelming Township vote for school merger in 1966 and the smaller affirmative vote in the Borough, Mr. Lombardo said, "This tells me one thing: the Township knew it was sharing responsibility and never considered the arrangement unconstitutional then. Now, ten years later, Township Committee is reversing good faith and disassociating itself from responsibility to the Borough."

Move Was Optimal. Asked whether he planned to try and diminish the polarization, Mr. Lombardo said only Township withdrawal of its suit could do that. Mr. Escher, however, said he had had contacts in a very preliminary way, with Township Committee.

"The tragic thing," Mr. Escher said, "is that the Township didn't have to do it. If some other district had won the suit, it would apply to the Township."

The Borough "will have to look very carefully at the financing of any future arrangements with the Township," Mr. Lombardo warned. He said that during budget discussions this year, a Township official whom he did not identify, said that if the Borough "backed into consolidation," the Township would be willing to pick up a greater share of costs in shared enterprises. In some joint endeavors, the Township bears two-thirds of the cost, the Borough one-third. In others, the split is 50-50.

"I see this as blackmail," Mr. Lombardo declared.

Drive, was struck by an unidentified vehicle last Wednesday afternoon while he was bicycling on Elm Lane on the Princeton University campus.

Mr. Ogilvie was treated at Princeton Medical Center for bruises and contusions. He told Ptl. James Vandermark, who investigated, that the hit-run vehicle was traveling in the same direction as he was when it struck him.

DRIVER ON FAIRWAY

Car, Not Golf Club. The Springdale Golf Club sustained malicious damage early last week when someone forced the gate near the greenskeeper's maintenance building and drove approximately 150 feet on the fourth fairway.

Police added than an instrument was also used to chop holes in the fairway but the major damage was from the tire tracks. They received no estimate of damage.

MORE CB THEFTS

Including First From Boat. Princeton police listed a half-dozen thefts involving citizen band radios last week, including the first such theft from a boat.

From the boat of a Borough resident that was parked in a driveway on Witherspoon Street, someone removed a 23-channel, marine mobile CB unit valued at $145. The theft took place between 8 Sunday night and 5 Monday morning.

A Township resident was the victim in the theft of a $230 CB, stolen between 7 and 11 Friday evening from his Land Cruiser which was parked in the Chambers Street lot.

A $150 CB unit plus a $110 tape deck were stolen from a locked car parked in a drive on Vandeventer Avenue. A door on the driver's side had been forced to gain entry, police said.

In two similar thefts, 23-channel CBs were removed from parked cars by thieves, who, police said, used a coat hanger to release the door lock. A Township resident lost a $129.95 unit from his car parked in the Tulane West lot; the second victim, a Texas resident, had parked his car in the lot next to the Princeton Playhouse. The thief left behind a pair of pliers in the process of removing his CB valued at $150.

Township police report the theft of a $125 CB unit issued by the Princeton First Aid Squad to Geoff Gettelfinger, 160 Bertrand Drive. It was stolen during the night while his car was parked on Clearview Avenue, near the First Aid Building on North Harrison Street.

Not a CB but a CB antenna ($10) and a folding hunting knife (25) were taken from an unlocked car parked on Nassau Street. Chief Michael Carnevale identified the owner as a Harriet Drive resident.

In another car theft, a cassette tape deck valued at $127 was stolen Sunday night from an unlocked car parked near Hodge Hall on the Princeton Theological Seminary campus. The victim was a Borough resident.

FENWICK NAMES AIDES

To Finance Campaign. John L. Hammer of Princeton, a treasurer of the Princeton Public Library, will serve on the campaign Finance Committee for the re-election of U.S. Rep. Millicent Fenwick (R-Fifth District).

In addition to his post with the Princeton Public Library, Mr. Hammer is a management consultant for Merck Company and other major corporations. Also named to the Finance Committee was: Asa H. Farr of Belle Mead, president of the Somerset County Park Commission and chairman of the board of United Filigree Corporation.

WILLIAM WASNEY WHO?

Novelist's Name a Secret. A Princeton resident who has written his first novel under the pseudonym "William Wasney" has decided to keep his real name a secret, even though the book has created more than passing interest in the author's identity.

"Just say that I'm a medical scientist living in Princeton and that I am employed by one of the major New Jersey pharmaceutical firms," says Mr. "Wasney," who had his book published through Vantage Press earlier this year. The novel is entitled "The Story of R.K., The Accountant," which the author says is a description of "the activities and thought processes of a developing paranoid," that "takes the reader out of the world of the normal, albeit neurotic, into that of the psychotic."

The book is priced at $4.50, Mr. "Wasney" reports, and it is available at the Princeton University Store or postpaid from Vantage Press, 516 West 34th Street, New York City, 10001.

Superb Production of William Inge's "Picnic" At Summer Intime as Last Show of 1976 Season

For its season's finale, Summer Intime is offering Princeton a superb going-away present with "Picnic"– the "summer romance" by William Inge. Impeccably directed by Mitchell Ivers and acted by a cast of 11 that hasn't a weak member in it, the play may be seen at Murray Theatre five more times, August 19 through 22 including a special Sunday matinee at 2:30 and a final performance at 7:30 that night. Advance reservations are recommended, for this "Picnic" is a winner.

Mr. Ivers has approached the production with more than the usual directorial loving care. After studying all four of Mr. Inge's own versions and revisions of the play, he has adapted lines of dialogue and even entire scenes from whichever version seemed best to him. The third act in particular is considerably restructured from the 1953 Broadway script, though it keeps the "Broadway" ending rather than the more brutal one that Mr. Inge incorporated into his later version which he called "Summer Brave."

The result is more than satisfactory. The characters, even with all their human weaknesses showing, are sympathetic and in the main lovable. The story moves fast and logically through the events of a little more than a single day and night in a small Kansas town – a day and a night in which the sudden presence of a rough, attractive drifter changes the lives of at least four women who, neighbors sharing a common back yard, have long been inured to nothing more exciting than Halloween parties or the memory of husbands lost years ago.

News Of The THEATRES

The story, combining humor and tension; the characters, varied and recognizable; the players, in command of the stage both alone and while smoothly interacting; the realistic and comfortable back-porch and back-yard scene (the third stunning set by actor-designer Richard Ferrugio this season) – the whole on opening night generated the kind of excitement that playgoers hopefully buy tickets for, and only sometimes get.

The drifter, Hal, whose masculinity is the catalyst of the drama, is well played by Jamie Horton. Add a couple of inches in height and 30 pounds in weight and he would be more acceptable as a former football hero; but he conveys the friendly crudeness and the magnetism which charms lonely Mrs. Potts and which makes Mrs. Owens fear for her daughters.

These two ladies are played by two of Princeton's own favorite actresses. Georgine Freedman is strongly uncompromising in her single-minded effort to implant her own small-twon virtues in her daughters. It is a fine characterization, from her certainty in the early scenes to the defeat which she cannot understand.

As Mrs. Potts, the Owens' neighbor, Anne Sheldon is delightful in her outspoken human kindness. Although she has no daughter to lose, she too suffers loss after the one happy day of having a man in the house.

Patricia Gorman is lovely as Madge, the older Owens daughter, whose barely comprehended dreams of a life beyond the quiet limits of her town are ready for a sudden awakening. As Millie, the younger daughter, frustrated because she alone in her prairie milieu writes poetry, draws, reads deeply, likes Picasso, and because she is big for her age and her pretty sister gets all the attention, Winnie Holzman gives a subtly charming performance in which rebelliousness, shyness and belligerent craving for affection all play a part.

The subplot of the spinster school teacher and her routinely attentive "friend boy, not boy friend," is acted by Kimberly Myers and Richard Ferrugio. It is good to see Miss Myers on the stage again after a summer behind Intime's managerial desk. Her portrayal of Rosemary Sydney is sharply humorous and also surprisingly moving. Mr. Ferrugio is exactly right as Howard Bevans, a man with a shopkeeper's soul.

Joseph Harbeson, Petie Duncan (and what a joy it is to see her on the Intime stage after an unbelievable gap of eighteen years!!), Bebe Neuwirth and Richard Warren complete a cast which is continuously interesting to watch.

Backstagers whom the audience doesn't see are all too easily forgotten -- but Ruth Steiner should have an accolade as costume designer for all four of Summer Intime 9's plays. The effective lighting of "Picnic" is by Mitchell Kurtz.

THREE IN ONE

For Street Theatre. Three one-act plays which Street Theatre says are light as a summer-time breeze, will be presented on Street Theatre's mobile stage this Thursday through Saturday and again Friday, August 27 and 28.

The plays are "Lovers and Other Strangers" by Renee Taylor and Joseph Bologna from which two excerpts will be given; "The Mice Have Been Drinking Again" by Cleve Haubold and "The Bathroom Door" by Gertrude Jennings.

The excerpts from "Lovers and Other Strangers" are titled "Johnnie and Wilma" and "Bea, Frank, Joan and Richie." Debbie Bellow is directing. Liz Rothberg has the director's assignment for "The Mice Have Been Drinking Again" and Francia White will direct "The Bathroom Door."

Opening night will be this Thursday at Littlebrook School, with performances Friday at Riverside and Saturday on Palmer Square.

After the four-day break, performances will continue on Friday, August 27 at Palmer Square and at Princeton High School on Saturday, August 28.

Actors are Stephen Smith, Mata Yaguda, Ali Henderson, Dave Fine, Jill Kendall, Greg Davidson, Mura Chanley, Kevin Grubie and John Fenton.

Street Theatre is a non-profit corporation and admission to all performances is free. Donations are accepted, however.

THE LAST REEL...

For Intime Films. The final week of classics in Summer Intime's Classic Film Series will offer a musical, a drama and a comedy.

"Georgy Girl," the film that brought Lynn Redgrave prominance, will be Monday night's film. James Mason and Alan Bates are the men.

"The Last Hurrah," which John Ford directed with Spencer Tracy, Basil Rathbone and John Carradine, is Tuesday's offering.

"To Sir With Love" will bring the summer to a close on Wednesday. Sidney Poitier stars.

All films are shown in McCormick Art Museum at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $1.50.

I'M FOR THE HARE...

The Tortoise, for Me. "The Great Cross-Country Race" involves those classic contestants, the tortoise and the hare. They'll race once again, figuratively speaking, when Creative Theatre Unlimited presents "The Great Cross-Country Race" in the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing, this Saturday at 2 p.m.

"An hour of fun and song for children of all ages," is the way director Amie Brockway describes the play. It's staged in-the-round, and around the audience. Best seating, Ms. Brockway says, is on the stage floor, so take a blanket or cushion.

In the ensemble of singing, tumbling and juggling animal characters are Barbara Ackerman, Huldah Anderson, Adrienne Brockway, Betsy English, Phil Gallo, Alison Gallup, Pat Hutcheson, Theresa Hutcheson and Ellen Pearl.

The CTU Performance Troupe will tour central New Jersey with "The Great Cross-Country Race" and is available for bookings through September 11.

"GLASS MENAGERIE"

From Twilight Theatre. Tennessee Williams' "Glass Menagerie" will be the third production of the summer Twilight Theatre at 185 Nassau Street. Opening night is this Thursday, and the play will be given again this Friday and Saturday, with curtain at 8 p.m. each night. Tickets, at $1, are available at the door.

Under the direction of Richard Carlin, the production will be a simple one, according to Twilight information, emphasizing the poetic, mysterious nature of the play.

Judy Applegate will be Amanda. Margy Levine has been cast as Laura, Nicholas Halpern will be Tom and Richard Carlin will play the part of the Gentleman Caller.

Corinne Colman is assistant director. Costumes and props are by Nina McPherson, set design by Chris Negus and lights by Steve Ludlum. Frank Silverstein is co-ordinating special photography for the production and Steve Sweeney is providing music, including excerpts from the works of Eric Satie, Ginastera and Benny Goodman.

"Tartuffe," the final production of the season, will follow "Glass Menagerie" next week.

'BLACK TRUTH' BOOKED

For Rock Concert Friday. The Jazz-Rock-Soul music of "Black Truth" runs both hot and cool, as audiences will discover this Friday evening in a free outdoor concert at Community Park Field. And turning on is as simple as bringing blankets or camp chairs at 7:30 for another free community concert sponsored by Summer Sounds.

The Trenton-based "Black Truth" group numbers seven musicians who have played together for about three years. In case of rain, the concert will be held at the same time at the Westminster Choir College Playhouse, Hamilton Avenue and Walnut Lane.

Five days later, on Wednesday evening, August 25, Summer Sounds will harmonize with the Princeton Barbershop Quartet Society for a "Return to Tin Pan Alley" program and a community Sing-Along at Palmer Square. All welcome, all free.

READY TO AUDITION?

For Creative Theatre Play. What happens in a magic show when the magic goes wrong? That's the theme of "The Hat," to be presented this October in schools and other community organizations by Creative Theatre Unlimited.

Actors who have had experience working with children, or those Creative Theatre describes as "creative teachers who like to act," are invited to audition next Thursday and Friday, August 26 and 27 in the CTU Studio, Trinity Church, 33 Mercer. Audition times are 9:30 a.m. to noon, 1:30 to 3:30 and 7:30 to 9:30.

It turns out that the characters in the play – the Hatmaker with her crystal ball, her son, the magician's daughter and an imaginary dog named Pizz – are the ones who help the magician out of his problems.

Aided, of course, by magic flames and forests created by the children in the audience, because it's an audience-participation script, with participation integrated into the performance through improvisation by both actors and audience.

The performance troup of CTU is partially funded by the Mercer Council Cultural and Heritage Commission and the New Jersey State Council on the Arts in cooperation with the National Endowment for the Arts.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 924-3489, or 883-3772.

PRINCE

The Man Who Fell To Earth. With surprisingly strong acting by David Bowie and Candy Clark, and with the adept direction of Nicolas Roeg ("Don't Look Now" and "Walkabout") this film should have been out of this world. It isn't.

With all the recent attention on the Viking expedition to Mars and the release of the Air Force's data on UFOs, the plot is compelling: Bowie, an inhabitant of a faraway, drought-stricken planet, leaves his wife and kids at home and heads out into the universe in search of water. He stumbles across earth, where he plays out the classic tale of the corruption of innocence.

He finds water, but he discovers booze, money and loneliness along with it. During his stay he creates a lucrative corporation, leads a secretive life, has a love affair (with Candy Clark), and becomes entangled in a CIA-like organization. Bowie's acting is impressive and the casting is entirely appropriate: Hauntingly sinister at one moment, childishly innocent the next, Bowie's two closest contacts on earth are a homosexual lawyer and a heterosexual scientist, played by Buck Henry and Rip Torn.

But the movie confuses rather than clarifies the issue of who is to blame for Bowie's undoing – the circumstances or the character himself.

Roeg charges several scenes with startling eroticism (the flick is R-rated, of course) and resorts to sudden shocks to keep the pace, but the flow of fractured and splintered scenes is often pretentious and mystifying. The film is one to compare to "2001" or "A Clockwork Orange," though not all comparisons will be favorable.

PRINCE

All The President's Men. Yes, it's very good. As a primer on the "how to" of investigative reporting, it is unsurpassed. How Washington Post reporters Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein -- portrayed superbly by Robert Redford and Dustin Hoffman – brought the entire Nixon administration tumbling down emerges as a taut, suspenseful detective story.

The behind-the scenes chronicle is suspenseful and involving. Beginning with the haphazard discovery of five strangely-linked intruders in Democratic headquarters (Watergate), the film moves quickly to their arraignment and the assignment of lower eschelon reporter Woodward to cover the story. What starts off as a routine assignment soon shifts into high gear as Woodward intensifies his snooping and opens a hornet's nest of suspicious circumstances and top political names.

Providing a fascinating backdrop to their probing is the newspaper itself (the huge newsroom is supposed to be an exact replica of the Washington Post newsroom) where the first efforts of Woodward and Bernstein to get full backing from their editors occasionally becomes as grueling as the actual fact-finding.

Director Alan J. Pakula has overlayed the film with a measured but relentless tension that makes an essentially actionless story into a first-rate thriller, all the more true to life because Watergate left few American unscathed.

The film never yields to the easy temptation to make Nixon and his staff into targets of scorn; occasional actual news clips provide enough irony on their own.

Jason Robards stands out as the Post's chief editor Ben Bradlee, who stuck by his reporters' story when no other paper would touch it. Hal Holbrook is the shadowy informant "Deep Throat."

IT'S NEW To Us

NEW FEATURE ADDED

By Lamb's Garden Center. Anyone who has had occasion to be involved with commercial landscaping most likely knows of B & J Nursery. Although located in Yardville, they have done the planting for such Princeton buildings as Borough Hall, Senior Faculty housing on Harrison Street and the Institute for Defense Analysis.

B & J, however, is also called Lamb's Garden Center, a most attractive and large retail concern. Jim Lamb and his son, Barry, have been operating their nursery since 1964, but this past year they decided to expand the garden center tremendously.

EXPANSION AT LAMB'S GARDEN CENTER: This quarter acre of shaded plants is part of the expanded Lamb's Garden Center, which now also offers a professional landscape design service.

One of the new features is the landscape design service handled by Nancy Scott. Starting with a love of house plants, her interest in gardening grew to include horticulture and landscape design which she studied at Mercer County College.

Even if you are not prepared to undertake an entire planting program, she recommends an overall plan because it will prevent mistakes that might only have to be redesigned in the future.

After talking with the client and looking at the area to be planted, Nancy prepares a final plan that includes a downward view of the area, an identification of all plant material and a price for the job. Naturally, the cost varies, but if you go ahead with the plan using Lamb's materials, the nursery will deduct the design cost from the final price.

The Lambs grow much of their own nursery stock on 200 acres in Cream Ridge. Shade trees are their specialty, but you'll also find yews, azaleas, junipers and other evergreens. There are many sizes too, ranging from young trees to 25-foot varieties like those recently sent to the new Yankee Stadium.

Burjordi Holly. Then there is an additional quarter acre of shaded material under a wooden trellis beside the garden center. Not only is this a practical place to hold all these plants, some of which comes to them from the South, but also it is extremely attractive.

Here we saw dwarf evergreens, rhododendrons and hollies such as the Burfordi variety which is more resistant to insects than the usual American kind.

Bob Whitman, the manager, told us that their prices are good because they save on freight costs by bringing in plants only when they have a full trailer load. They also buy in bulk and pack their own bags whenever possible, such as with a mulch called Ritedress. This is made of licorice roots and will hold in areas where nothing else does, $1.49 a bag.

The Garden Center, itself, is well stocked, and reason enough for visiting here. It now measures 70,000 square feet and thus there is space for many extras. We saw redwood stands on wheels for large plants, rectangular arbors or an arched trellis for climbing roses, pots in every conceivable size and color, stone fountains with cerub figures in the center and, of course, plenty of tools.

The main fertilizer here is by Greenfield, which Mr. Whitman feels is equal to any other major brand, but less money. For instance, a fall fertilizer of 10-18-10 to encourage root growth costs $5.75 for 5,000 square feet.

While nursery stock may be Lamb's main business, they also have a delightful display of houseplants set on large tables filled with pebbles or hung from an inside wooden arbor complete with grow lights.

Backing up this supply is a greenhouse for growing them, and you'll find fuschias, Norfolk Island pine, a hanging gardenia, philodendron cordatum on bark, varigated pineapple, yucca trees and cacti, priced from about $1 to $18.

Located on Route 130 between Yardville and Bordentown, Lamb's Garden Center is open Monday through Friday from 8 until 6 and on Saturday and Sunday from 8 until 5.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

For Farmers' Markets. Farmers' markets have changed since their inception many years ago in Europe. No longer are they necessarily squares in the center of town where farmers bring their extra produce to sell to townspeople.

Over the years flea markets have become an added attraction, and now a new one in Hamilton Township has added auctions and amusements for children. Called State Fairgrounds Farmers' Market, it is inside a huge building that was originally built to house the Motor exhibit at the Interstate Fair in the 1930's.

Space is available for more than 100 vendors and a little bit of everything seems to be included. The center area contains food stands for broasted chicken, shrimp, Peter Piper ice cream, barrel pickles and sauerkraut. All along the back are a variety of food shops for fish, meat, bakery products, imported cheeses, fresh eggs, an international deli, and of course, a store for fresh fruits and vegetables.

Manager Joe Ancker told us that meat will come directly from the Borden Packing Company's slaughter house, assuring that it will not only be fresh, but also that prices will be unbeatable. "While we don't regulate prices, part of the deal is that they (all the vendors) sell for next to nothing," he commented.

Throughout the building we saw excellent values in clothing, jewelry, wigs, household items, auto supplies, oil paintings, custom t-shirts, ear piercing and various other items.

Some specifics are six-inch plastic flower pots in approximately nine colors for $1.50 each; a dozen ears of white corn for 90 cents; eight-piece placemat and napkin sets for $2; men's sweaters at $8; and little girls' two-piece sets for $3.99.

September Debut. The market which plans to be open year round on Fridays and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. and on Sundays from 9 until 7, opened last week on a preview basis. Not everything mentioned is fully operating yet, but the plans are made and it should all be set for the grand opening in early September.

This main part is only a starter, however. Outside is a huge flea market area which will be open each weekend. The tables are three by seven feet in size and cost $5 for the first and $4 for all others. You can also make reservations by the month and then the price is even less. But, if you're just looking, be prepared to find anything and everything imaginable.

The outside area also includes a free petting zoo for the children where we saw some very tame young deer, mother and baby goats and Egyptian geese. This is the effort of Carney Rose, who Mr. Ancker terms a "Doctor Doolittle." The game wardens bring him orphaned young animals who then happily follow him around.

There is also a pony ride, available at 60 cents, and Mr. Ancker is looking into the possibility of adding some children's amusement-park rides.

All Kinds of Auctions. Then there are various auctions. The most interesting is a livestock one each Friday evening at 7 p.m. This includes horses, mules, ponies, and tack, but cattle for back to the farm and small animals are often auctioned off too. This also is under the auspices of Carney Rose, and Joe Ancker reports that ponies often sell for about $25 and last week there was even a Bicentennial mule train.

Saturday nights vary, with the first and third of each month bringing an antique auction run by auctioneer Stout. On the second and fourth Saturday evenings of the month, Mr. Ancker plans to initiate a tailgate auction. Here you could clean out your attic and basement (garage too) and bring whatever you can drive into the building with you, all set to be auctioned.

The auction buildings, by the way, are just beside the Farmer's Market, and the action here starts at 7 p.m. on Fridays and 6 p.m. on Saturdays.

Located on the N.J. State Fairgrounds on Route 33 in Hamilton Township (by the Kings Fairground Mall) Farmer's Market also plans to be one of the entrances for the State Fair in September.

CAMPAIGN HEADS NAMED

For Borough Democrats. Jacqueline J. Swain, 3 Lytle Street, and Archibald S. Alexander Jr., 61 Westcott Road, have been named to run the campaign for the Democrats' four candidates for Borough Council.

Council member Martin P. Lombardo and David Male are running for the two regular three-year terms coming up this year on Council. Irv Urken is running for the two remaining years in the three-year term of Barbara Sigmund, who resigned from Council when she was appointed a Mercer County Freeholder, and Council member Marvin Trotman, appointed to fill the seat of the late Murray Medvin, is running for the one year remaining in Mr. Medvin's term.

Ms. Swain, a graduate of Rider College with a degree in commerce, is in Princeton University's Office of Teacher Preparation and Placement. Mr. Alexander, a lawyer, is a graduate of Princeton University. Both have been active in community affairs in the Princeton community.

TROTMAN CITED

By Legion Post 218. The Charles W. Robinson Post 218 of the American Legion has issued a statement commending Marvin Trotman, who was recently appointed to Borough Council. The statement, signed by Howard Graham, commander, and Edward E. Hayes, adjutant, read in part:

Mr. Trotman is the first member of our Post to serve on the Council and we are confident he will serve as a competent and dedicated Councilman as he has the American Legion. His appointment is one of the most memorable and happiest moments in the history of our Post and we wish our comrade a long and prosperous tenure as a Councilman.

HONOR FOR ROTARY CLUB: Coincident with its installation of new officers for 1976-77, the Rotary Club of Princeton was honored by selection of William J. Dettmar (right) as recipient of a Paul Harris Fellowship in recognition of his services to his club and to the Rotary District. The award carries with it e stipend of $1000 to be used to provide fellowships for foreign students coming to study in the United States. Mr. Dettmar is pictured with outgoing president Semuel J. De Turo Jr. (center) and incoming president Jack Cooper. Mr. Dettmar is the fourth member of the club to become a Paul Harris Fellow.

TWO PICTURES STOLEN

From Doctor's Office. Two pictures with a combined value of $250 were stolen last week from the wall of a doctor's office at 21 Chambers Street. The theft was reported, police said, by the manager of Gallery 100 on Nassau Street.

One was a color etching entitled, "Development of a Spanish Landscape" by Capello; the other, a silk screen work entitled, "Image 1" by Azuma. There was no forced entry.

$600 Theft. A KLH Stereo system and a tape deck recorder with a total value of $600 were stolen last week from an apartment on Witherspoon Street. Police report the apartment was unlocked.

In three Township thefts, Herbert M. Greenberg, 99 Ridgeview Circles, listed the larceny of a $100 chain saw from his unlocked garage; Dwight Boone, 51 Leigh Avenue, reported the theft of a spare tire and rim ($50) from the rear of his pickup truck, parked in his driveway; and Elizabeth Stenard, 57 Randall Road, told police that a $300 stereo amplifier-tuner had been stolen from her home. Police said that a basement window had been forced to enter the Stenard residence.

AMERICAN PARTY MEETS

Seeks Spot on Ballot. Following a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ahrens, 171 Westcott Road, the Mercer County Committee of the American Party of New Jersey said its first objective of the coming political year would be to place the party's candidates on the ballot this November.

Mr. Ahrens, the Mercer County chairman, said that Thomas Jefferson Anderson of Tennessee had been selected as the party's presidential candidate at the convention in June in Salt Lake City. Rufus Shackelford was nominated to run for vice-president.

At the Princeton meeting Mr. Ahrens distributed copies of the party's platform adopted in 1972. He said that since the platform is a statement of principle it does not change from year to year.

TO EXPLAIN TAX IMPACT

In Two Meetings. The impact on the individual of New Jersey's income tax and various other levies, will be explained by Sidney Glaser, director of New Jersey's Division of Taxation, in two public meetings to be held in Borough Hall Wednesday, September 15.

The first meeting, at 3 p.m., is geared to answering the questions of elderly residents of the community. At 8 p.m., joined by Lawrence Patterson, the Borough tax collector, Mr. Glaser will answer questions of the homeowner, renter and commuter. Gus Escher, finance chairman of Borough Council, will also be present.

The meetings, planned by Borough Council, will be geared to the Borough resident, but Township residents are invited as well.

Young Work Crew Provides Magic Touch at Housing Projects

"The kids have done work this summer I just wouldn't have had time to do otherwise. They're great!"

Henry Pannell, supervisor of maintenance for the Princeton Housing Authority, has an eight-man work crew this summer for the first time.

Members, around 14 and 15 years old, came to Mr. Pannell from the Princeton Youth Center's summer employment program under which jobs for 30 Princeton young people are funded with money from the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs. The Princeton grant is $19,000, and the young workers receive the $2.30 minimum wage.

"I thought I was going to get older teens," Mr. Pannell smiles, "but nobody wanted to hire the younger kids, so we did. I was apprehensive at first because of their youth, but they've turned out to be just great! They have a lot of initiative, they try harder, they are full of enthusiasm... I say give me these small guys any time!"

The crew works in the Authority's Clay Street and Spruce Circle apartments. On Clay Street, they have been painting the apartments' outside trim, painting the big wall that separates the Clay Street property from adjoining properties, planting and pruning shrubs, planting and caring for flowers in the big planters, pulling weeds.

On Spruce Circle, they've washed windows for the elderly residents, cleaned the community room and pruned and weeded the grounds.

Boys work from 8 to 2. The Housing Authority provides a free lunch and they eat it in the shade of the Clay Street trees.

"That way," Mr. Pannell says with a small smile, "we can all keep together during lunch hour."

Sen. Anne Martindell

MARTINDELL NAMED

To Head Carter Committee. State Senator Anne C. Martindell of Princeton has been named to head a national policy task force to investigate discrimination against women by the insurance industry by the Carter Campaign Committee.

Mrs. Martindell said the group has been asked to identify insurance practices which discriminate against women, to focus national attention on sex discrimination and to propose changes which would protect the rights and interests of this particular consumer group. Areas of investigation include life insurance, pensions and annuities, disability, property, casualty and health insurance.

Gov. Carter has stressed his interest in ending unfair practices which affect not only women but all segments of our population, Sen. Martindell said. "Social change has revolutionized the traditional concept of protecting the husband and father who is the sole support of his family.

"Now that the family unit is being disrupted increasingly by divorce and separation, the insurance impact is felt more heavily by women because their coverage was usually in their spouses' name and was part of his basic coverage." Women, she said, appear to be penalized for their reproductive functions of childbearing and often cannot obtain adequate coverage or benefits in connection with pregnancy and childbirth.

FUNDS AVAILABLE

From Lung Association. The Delaware-Raritan Lung Association of Princeton has announced the availability of awards and grants to train health educators, to develop nursing specialty programs, as well as professional and patient education programs in the field of respiratory disease.

Funds for the awards have been made available through contributions to the 1975 Christmas Seals.

The deadline for submission of applications for the grant period, July 1, 1977, to June 30, 1978, is November 1. For further information contact Linda D. Hummel, Delaware-Raritan Lung Association, (452-2112).

MAILBOX

Suggestion Amended.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Mrs. Stuart Minton, a Medical Center Volunteer, has suggested (TOWN TOPICS, August 12) that her group be granted special three hour parking privileges so that they can complete their two and one half hour tours of duty at the hospital. Might I suggest that it would be more appropriate for the volunteers to reduce their work period to two hours so that they can comply with the present non-discriminatory parking laws. Alternatively they could use public parking lots and walk to work.

Any privilege granted would be at the expense of local residential neighborhoods that have already been highly disrupted in bearing the brunt of parking problems created by the Medical Center's expansion. Present parking convenience continues to depend on the cooperation of local residents in not parking outside their own houses. It is important to maintain this goodwill.

Bike Paths Redefined.
The Editor of Town Topics:

For the benefit of hard-pressed Township taxpayers, it might be helpful to clarify several points with respect to the Township's application for a federal bicycle path demonstration project grant.

Besides eliminating paths on Alexander and Terhune Roads and the Kingston Road bridge over Harry's Brook, Township Committee also voted to delete a long stretch of Kingston Road between Prospect Avenue Extension and Riverside Drive West, because at least this member considered parallel routes to be safe alternatives. This nine-tenths of a mile section, together with the bridge, was estimated to cost $78,000, more than twice the other section finally included.

All but two of the other paths retained in the application were kept for safety reasons only. Of those two, one would be necessary, it appeared, to protect the Community Park playing fields from frequent trampling by traffic crossing them to Route 206 and events on the north side of the park – provided such a path is not likely to compound existing drainage problems in the south side.

The other proposed path, the Snowden Lane-Bertrand Drive short cut (one-tenth of a mile) through former farm fields, had been asked for not only by residents of the Dodds Lane-Bertrand sector who use that link now to Van Dyke Road but also by the residents of Overbrook Drive which bears much of the present bike traffic.

Throughout our review of the proposed application in several meetings this summer the guiding considerations for the women members of Committee have been safety and economy, although we have differed on the merits of bicycle paths in general and the safety of riding on certain roads in particular.

Recreational factors such as the towpath connections could not be justified, we felt, in the present tax squeezes, either this year or probably the next two or three. It was on this basis that this member endorsed the application when it was stripped of all but essentials -- indeed so fragmented that it might well fail in review by federal agencies. In the unlikely event of their approval, the grant of 80 percent would not come before next year. In the meantime the engineering feasibility and cost of several sections will need to be reviewed.

No agreement was reached on the application before the July 26 meeting of Committee. Since I disagreed fairly widely with the proposal, I felt its sponsor (Committee Member Abbot Low Moffat) was entitled to the courtesy of knowing which paths I considered necessary for safety reasons if federal funds became available. On others we continued to disagree.

CONSOLIDATION?

Report to Be Studied. The draft report on consolidation of Borough and Township, prepared by the Joint Consolidation Study Committee, will be discussed at a meeting of the Committee this week.

The meeting, open to the public, will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Conference Room of Borough Hall. The committee may possibly act on the report.

PLAZA WORK BEGUN

Near Firestone Library. Princeton University has begun work on a landscaped plaza in memory of Roger S. Firestone '35, in the area bounded by Firestone Library, East Pyne Building, Murray-Dodge Hall and the University Chapel.

To be known as Firestone Plaza, it will feature bluestone walkways in place of the existing service road, as well as a major widening of other walkways; the addition of sitting areas, including limestone benches and sitting steps in the vicinity of the Lipchitz sculpture currently in place; and the planting of supplementary trees, shrubs and ground cover.

The vicinity of the Student Center will also be improved by the elimination of external trash containers (to be replaced by internal compacting equipment), and the bluestone paving of chronic muddy areas near the west entrance.

It is hoped that the project will be completed by mid-October, according to project manager John G. Reilly. The plaza designers are Zion and Breen Associates of Imlaystown, the university's landscape architects. The contractor is the Bergen Bluestone Co. of Paramus, which has done substantial work for the university in the past.

The project will cost in the neighborhood of $250,000 and has been made possible by combined gifts from Mrs. Roger S. Firestone and Laurance S. Rockefeller '32, a good friend of the late Mr. Firestone. The gifts were made specifically for construction of the plaza, which has been part of the University's long-range planning objectives for many years.

Mr. Firestone died in 1970. He and his four brothers were major donors to the fund that enabled the University to build the Firestone Library, dedicated in 1948 to the memory of their father, Harvey S. Firestone, Sr.

In addition to the trees already on the site, seven new ones will be planted -- six large sugar maples and a willow oak, all of them 25 to 30 feet high. Additional shrubbery will include 17 spreading yews, a dozen rhododendrons, two Chinese wisteria and 3,000 pachysandra for groundcover.

MEETING SCHEDULED

By Parents without Partners. A rap session will be the focus of the monthly general meeting of Parents Without Partners, Chapter No. 387, on Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Princeton Country Club on Route 1.

The groups will be limited to 12 participants; the topic will be pertinent to the single parent in today's world. Dancing to live music will follow; newcomers are invited.

Parents Without Partners is a group of adults who are unmarried, widowed, divorced or separated. For further information, call evenings: 924-2064, 201-297-5854; days: 924-1723.

LOWER FARE OFFERED

To Seniors and Handicapped. Senior citizens and handicapped persons may now ride at reduced fares on the five passenger railroad lines operated by ConRail in New Jersey, according to Transportation Commissioner Alan Sagner.

Commissioner Sagner said ConRail has resolved its legal and administrative problems, and those enrolled in the Department's reduced fare program may use their identification cards to purchase lower cost tickets on the former Penn Central, Jersey Central, Erie Lackawanna, New York and Long Branch and Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Lines railroads.

Anyone over 62 may enroll in the program by presenting proof of age at any New Jersey bank, savings and loan association or county Office on Aging. Handicapped persons may enroll by writing to Special Programs, New Jersey Department of Transportation, 1035 Parkway Avenue, Trenton, N.J. 08625.

Those accredited need only to show their identification cards in order to be sold tickets at reduced fares.

The program, which includes buses, permits all over 62 years and the handicapped of any age, regardless of place of residence, to travel at reduced fares on weekdays, during off-peak hours, between 9:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. and between 7 p.m. and 6 a.m., as well as all day Saturdays, Sundays and state holidays.

The Commissioner said that enrollment in the program has been rising steadily to its present total of about 360,000, including about 2,000 handicapped.

SURVEY SCHEDULED

On Rate of Employment. Representatives of the Bureau of the Census will conduct of survey of employment in this area during the work week of August 16-21, Porter S. Rickley, Director of the Bureau's Regional Office in Philadelphia, has announced.

The survey is conducted for the U.S. Department of Labor in a scientifically-designed sample of approximately 70,000 households throughout the United States. Employment and unemployment statistics based on results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

For example, in June the survey indicated that of the 94.6 million men and women in the civilian labor force, 87.5 million were employed. The Nation's unemployment rate was 7.5 percent, up from 7.3 percent in May but substantially below the recession peak of 8.9 percent reached in the second quarter of 1975.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept strictly confidential by law and the results are used only to compile statistical totals.

Pharmacy Footnotes

by Mel Atlas, Reg. Pharm

Poliomyelitis is an acute, infectious, occasionally crippling disease caused by a virus organism. It affects those of all ages, but children from one to sixteen are more likely to develop it than adults. Older children and young adults appear to become infected more frequently now than formerly. Early symptoms of the disease are headache, sore throat, fever, fatigue, pains in the muscles. Polio vaccines are essential protection against this disease, and parents must be sure their children are immunized.

PS WHERE PEOPLE MAKE THE DIFFERENCE

Young People Are Saving Money In Old Ways

Today's young people are rediscovering some great old ways to save money . . . and having lots of fun too. They're fixing their own cars, refinishing old furniture, baking bread and canning fruits. Sewing and needlepoint are back in style along with some other handcrafts that people had forgotten.

One of the best ways to save money is with a regular savings account. And saving regularly is more rewarding where you earn the highest interest. We pay you 5¼% a year credited quarterly and paid from day of deposit to day of withdrawal, as long as just $10 remains on deposit over the end of the month.

In a time when money is getting tighter, people of all ages still make the difference with us.

TRAVEL TO SOUTHWEST

With Art Museum. The American Southwest, which has drawn artists and photographers for almost a century, is the locale for the next tour to be offered by the Friends of the Art Museum at Princeton University. The two-week tour has been planned for September 24 to October 8 and there is still room for those who have not yet signed on.

The tour will begin in Tucson, Arizona, with visits to the Sonora Desert Museum and the Center for Creative Photography at the University of Arizona. In Phoenix, the group will visit Frank Lloyd Wright's "Taliesin West" and the Heard Museum of Anthropology and Primitive Art. Photographer Paul Caponigro will join the group here and will provide professional advice to any photographers on the tour.

The itinerary will include a few days at the Grand Canyon, an overnight stay at the Hopi Second Mesa to meet Indian artists, and a jeep trip into Canyon de Chelly.

Travelers will visit the ancient, but still inhabited, city of Acoma, known as "the sky city" for its mesa-top location, will spend a morning at a harvest festival near Albuquerque and will then travel to Santa Fe. In the New Mexican capital, the group will visit museums and the Laboratory of Anthropology. One day will be devoted to a trip to Taos, by way of the mountain road leading through the Spanish villages of Chimayo, Trampas and Rancheos. Throughout the trip, there will be an opportunity to visit the private homes of artists. Specialists in various fields will serve as guides and lecturers.

Tour options include a raft float trip (without rapids) down the Colorado River, sight-seeing by air-conditioned bus, a climb to the top of a mesa for picture taking.

The cost of the trip, including transportation, lodging, museum fees, guides, lectures and most meals, is $1,295 per person based on double-room occupancy. The sum includes a tax-deductible $150 contribution to the Friends of the Art Museum.

Additional information may be obtained from Bailey Symington at the Art Museum (452-3762) or Lisa Lesher at Travel Showcase, 924-9496.

The tour itinerary has been planned by Alfred Bush, Princeton University's curator of American Southwest collections; Nancy Knox, recently retired head of the Historical Society of Princeton and a long-time summer resident of New Mexico; Peter C. Bunnell, director of the Art Museum and professor of the history of photography at Princeton; David H. McAlpin, collector and pioneer in the encouragement of photography and Bailey Symington, chairman of the tour committee for the Friends.

POSTCARDS AVAILABLE

With Huenergarth Drawing. The Princeton Art Association has postcards available to the public with a Bicentennial theme. The drawing on the card, which depicts a fife and drummer followed by an eager, palette-bearing artist, was drawn by John Huenergarth, nationally-known cartoonist, and donated to the Princeton Art Association for its use.

The cards are available in bulk rates of $8 for 100; $30 for 500; and $50 for 1,000. For further information, call the Art Association, 921-9173.

SUMMER EXHIBITION

At Kalen's Fine Arts. A varied display is on exhibit at the gallery opened earlier this year at 29 Hulfish Street by Kalen's Fine Arts.

Included are porcelain paintings by Don Hornberger, floral paintings by Elizabeth Ruggles and Pannoux Tapestries. They may be seen through the month of September.

New Hewlett-Packard HP-25C Scientific Programmable Calculator with Continuous Memory. $200.

Retains your programs and saves your data—even when you turn it off!

The great new HP-25C is the first scientific calculator you can turn on and off as often as you like without losing your programs or stored data.

With the HP-25C, you can save the time and inconvenience of repeatedly re-entering programs you use over and over again.

You can store and retain programmed solutions to any repetitive problem—from long, complex problems to hyperbolics, statistical functions, octal-decimal conversions, degrees-minutes-seconds addition and much more. Constants, statistical data, etc., may also be saved indefinitely in the HP-25C's eight addressable memories.

The new HP-25C is identical in every respect to the popular HP-25—with the added advantage of continuous memory. You get:

72 built-in functions and operations.
All trig functions in radians, degrees and grads; rectangular/polar conversions; logs; etc.

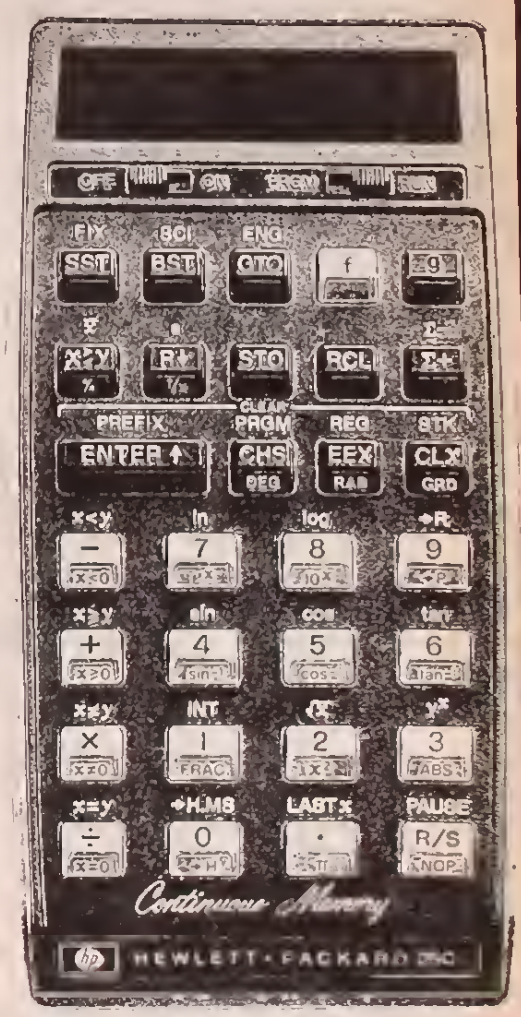
Keystroke programmability.
The automatic answer to repetitive problems. Enter your keystrokes once. Then enter only the variables each time.

Full editing capability.
You can easily review and quickly add or change steps.

Branching and conditional test capability.
Eight built-in logic comparisons let you program conditional branches.

8 addressable memories.
And you can do full register arithmetic on all eight.

Fixed decimal and scientific notation—plus engineering notation, which displays powers of ten in multiples of ±3 for ease in working with many units of measure —e.g., kilo (10^3), pico (10^{-12}), nano (10^{-9}), etc.



Come in and try the HP-25C today.

PEOPLE In The News

The sixth volume of "The Journals of David E. Lilienthal" will be published on September 8 by Harper and Row. Mr. Lilienthal, who lives at 80 Battle Road, was a founding director of the Tennessee Valley Authority and first head of the Atomic Energy Commission and is currently board chairman and chief executive officer of Development Resources Corp.

Subtitled "Creativity and Conflict, 1964-1967," this volume of the journals deals with a time of deepening involvement in Vietnam, of renewed Arab-Israeli conflict, of strife in the Universities, of the emergence of a knowledge of CIA meddlings, of stirrings among ghetto blacks and of the alienation of parents from their children all told in a highly personal account.

Almost daily during these years, Mr. Lilienthal made on-the-spot notes about important and not so important people. President Johnson in the White House and on Guam, Nguyen Cao Ky, Robert Kennedy, Robert McNamara, Ellsworth Bunker, Clark Clifford and others share pages with ordinary Peruvians, Thais, Colombians Iranians of all sorts. Of special interest are the entries that result from Mr. Lilienthal's deepening friendship with the Shah of Iran, not widely known then but now a world figure.

Also of interest are his efforts, recorded as journal entries, to warn of the public hazards of atomic power plants and his realization of the importance of the vast Western coal reserves. The Development and Resources Corporation, Mr. Lilienthal's unique creation, continued, as it does today, twenty years after its founding, to assist people in many lands to develop their own natural resources for their own benefit. Mr. Lilienthal's travels to many parts of the world on behalf of these efforts are also recorded here.

In the midst of activity there are moments set aside for the contemplation of nature, the cultivation of his garden and for reflection on public issues and personal conflicts. A New York Times reviewer described him as "a writer of genuine and unmistakable flair."

Three Princeton residents will attend Skidmore College this fall. They are Cheryl L. Hendrickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hendrickson of 49 Crooked Tree Lane; Susan L. Higgins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Higgins of 265 Herrontown Road; and Linda J. Levy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Saul Levy of 405 Terhune Road.

Barbara C. Hewson of 1051 Kingston Road has been awarded one of twenty Root-Tilden Scholarships at New York University School of Law. The purpose of the scholarship, which covers the full cost of tuition, is to attract to N.Y.U. outstanding college graduates with a capacity for and commitment toward public service. Ms. Hewson is a graduate of Princeton University.

Entering Bryn Mawr College in the fall will be Mary E. Hanson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John A. Hanson, 176 Western Way and a graduate of Princeton High School, and Jennifer A. Horton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Horton of 2 Newlin Road and a graduate of Princeton Day School.

Anthony Nini 3d, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony D. Nini, 131 Brookstone Drive, has received his master's degree in business administration with a concentration in accounting from New York University. Employed by Arthur Anderson & Co. in New York, Mr. Nini is presently attending an audit staff training program in Chicago.

Maryanne Telese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Telese of 303 Ewing Street, has been awarded a Martha Baird Rockefeller Fund for Music Grant to enable her to continue her professional career in opera theater.

Ms. Telese, who has been performing with the Texas Opera Theater and the Houston Grand Opera since December, will return for her second season with them in the fall. At present, she is with the Lake George Opera Festival and will be cast in the title role of "Manon" in Massenet's opera, as well as Rosemary in Hoiby's "Summer and Smoke."

SPORTS FANS! I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you
By John Bernard

Here's an amazing sports story... Oddly enough, hardly anyone remembers it today, yet it is one of the unbelievable happenings in sports... The Olympic decathlon event, which is composed of various skills including pole vaulting and javelin throwing, was won in the 1948 Olympics by Bob Mathias of the U.S. – even though Mathias had NEVER IN HIS LIFE pole vaulted or thrown a javelin until that year... Despite complete inexperience in pole vaulting and javelin throwing, he was able to beat all the great athletes of the world in the decathlon -- and he set a new world record doing it!

Here's an interesting fact that shows how great a golfer Bobby Jones was... In the last 9 U.S. Opens that Jones entered, from 1922 through 1930, he finished first or second in 8 of them!... No one else has ever come close to that percentage in major tournaments.

Here's an amazing baseball oddity... When Roger Maris broke Babe Ruth's home run record by hitting 61 homers in one season, in 1961, Maris, oddly enough, had ONLY ONE HOMER THE WHOLE FIRST MONTH OF THAT SEASON!... Maris hit only one home run the entire month of April that year, then hit 60 homers from May on.

I bet you didn't know that you can buy nursing home insurance for your parents if they are over 60 years old. $7000 in one year, low rates, medical history not important.

PRINCETON TEAMS WIN

In County Softball. In one of the wildest softball games in Mercer County this season, Staats E & G erupted for 14 runs in the fifth inning against Zips Steak House to pull out a 21-19 league championship victory. A packed house at Mercer County Central Park saw Staats send 18 men to bat in the big inning.

Trailing 15-6, Staats scored 13 of its 14 runs with two outs on 11 consecutive hits. As Zips pressed harder to end the inning, Staats began to take advantage of extra bases. Singles were turned into doubles; every hit was producing runs.

Wes Cawley, Dave Alton and Johnny Pesce each had two hits in the inning for Staats. When the carnage ended, Staats held a 20-15 lead over one of the best defensive clubs in the state.

Zips rallied in its last at bat and had the tying run at the plate with one out. But a line drive to shortstop Wes Cawley and a ground out to pitcher Frank Cawley ended the contest, giving Staats its first Mercer County Major League Championship.

The win moved the Championship out of Trenton for the first time in five years. Staats received solid hitting from Tom Devito and Bill Povia, both 4-for-5, and Dave Alton, 3-for-3. Right fielder Billy Staats, left center fielder Jay Stoudenburg and infielders Wes Cawley and John Pesce, contributed outstanding defensive plays.

Ivy Inn in Playoff. As an indication of the even competition in the Mercer Major League, both Zips and Staats were eliminated from play-off competition the following evening.

Hillbilly Hall edged Staats, 5-4, on three runs in the first inning. While Staats was wondering where all its hitting power had gone, Ivy Inn upset Zips, 8-4, in the nightcap, earning the right to face Hillbilly Hall in the finale.

Ivy pounced on Zips with a five-run second inning which eventually proved to be enough. Hits by Bob Mucciarelli, George McVaugh and an opposite field home run by Bucky Boccanfuso produced the Ivy scores.

The final contest for the play-off championship is a one game finale in Mercer County.

ANNUAL PP&K SET

For September. The annual Punt, Pass and Kick program, the largest youth program of its kind in the country, will be held next month.

Sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America and the National Football League, registrations for the event may be obtained at Nassau-Conover Ford, Route 206, through September 19. Boys and girls, 8 through 13, are eligible and will compete against their own ages. Scoring is based on distance and accuracy.

Princeton area competitions will be held either September 10-12 or 17-19.

Governor Brendan T. Byrne has issued a proclamation to encourage New Jersey boys and girls to participate, acting to boost youth interest in athletic and competitive endeavor.

Petrie and Hill in Unexpected Battle For Same Position with Atlanta Hawks

Tough competition in Armond Hill's bid for a berth with the Atlanta Hawks in the National Basketball Association has developed from a wholly unexpected source -- presence on the Hawks' roster of another Princetonian.

Geoff Petrie

A mid-summer trade has brought Geoff Petrie to Atlanta from the Portland Trail Blazers. After graduating from Princeton in 1969, Petrie began his career in Portland and has long since become an established NBA star.

Because he is a far more prolific scorer than Hill, Petrie will tend to eclipse to an extent Hill's outstanding defensive ability. Petrie is certain to be assigned a starting role as a guard for the Hawks, leaving Hill battling for one of the seven remaining places, or more realistically, one of the two reserve guard berths.

Hill was, of course, a first-round draft choice by Atlanta last spring. The ninth player chosen of all college seniors taken by NBA teams, his future is not likely to be in doubt.

Hill's selection by the Hawks, followed by their trade for Petrie, makes Atlanta the first NBA team to have had three Princeton alumni on its roster. Ted Manakas, another Tiger guard who played here from 1970-'73, began his career there but was cut from the squad at a later date.

In Houston, announcement has been made that Barnes Hauptfuhrer has signed with the Rockets. The 6-7 forward, a classmate of Hill's, went in the fourth round of the draft, his early selection attributed to a high shooting percentage and the defensive ability he developed here under Pete Carril.

JUNIORS FINISH THIRD

In Tennis Championships. The Middle States Tennis Association Boys Intersectional Team returned last week from four days of competition at the National Championships in Edmond, Oklahoma where Jay Lapidus of Princeton played no. 1 and captained the five top juniors from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Delaware.

The Middle States team almost upset top-seeded Northern California as it led 3-2 after the singles competition on the first day. The Middle States team then failed to win either of its doubles matches and lost the match, 4-3. Jay and his doubles partner, Murray Robinson, of Philadelphia, lost 4-6, 6-4, 7-5 at first doubles, and the second team of Omar Sebastian of Dover, Delaware,

PLAYOFFS ALL EVEN

In Adult Softball. The Adult Softball League playoffs began last week with regular-season winner Center Sports meeting fourth-place finisher Ivy Inn. Runner-up Conte's faced C. Sq. C. which finished third in the standings. The four teams will play a best two-out-of-three series.

Both opening games were slugfests, as Ivy defeated Center Sports, 17-14, and C. Sq. C. outlasted Conte's, 13-11. A big inning led to both victories. Ivy scored 11 first-inning runs, while C. Sq. C. sent seven runs across in the third.

Center Sports and Conte's then evened up both series as each benefitted from fine defensive play. Ivy fell to Center, 12-3, and Conte's defeated C. Sq. C., 5-1.

Offensive standouts in the playoffs have been Center's Jack and Jamie Petrone and Keith Holcombe and Walt Brower for Ivy. For C. Sq. C., Ernie Henderson and Dane Black have supplied the hitting as have John Pesce and Jerry Perpetua for Conte's.

PRINCETONIAN WINS

On Tennis Courts. Flip Ruben, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Ruben of 101 Lafayette Road, last week won both the singles and doubles of the Pennsylvania Clay Court Tennis Championships held in Philmont.

Ruben won six matches en route to the singles championship and in the doubles he teamed with Neptune's David Bernstein, where they upset the no. 1 team to win.

He has also returned from three National Tournaments as the only first-year 16-and-under endorsed by the Middle States Tennis Association, playing singles and doubles at the St. Louis Invitational, the Clay Court Championships at Jackson Mississippi, and at the Hard Courts at Kalamazoo, Michigan.

He is scheduled to compete in the Garden State Classic in Monmouth County next week in the 18-and-unders.

SWIM PROGRAM SET

At YMCA. The YMCA Fall Competitive Swim Team Program is now complete. Boys and girls, 6 to 17, may obtain information on team tryouts, schedules, fees and coaching by calling the Y office.

David Smith, Steering Committee Chairman, has announced that Claudette D'Arrigo will be head coach for the boys and girls team. Richard Coppola, Rider College coach, will serve as team consultant and, in addition, conduct 12 technique clinics for team members on stroke and turns.

According to Smith, the team will consist of 30 boys and 30 girls and an additional six boys and six girls for diving. The competitive program will include dual meet competition in the YMCA Swim League and individual competition through selected AAU meets to which coaches and parents will take small groups of swimmers.

The YMCA intends that youngsters should develop their own individual skills and achievement, but should also learn sportsmanship and teamwork through competition. Team tryouts will be held at the YMCA pool on Wednesday, September 8, for boys; Thursday, September 9, for girls, and Friday, September 10, for boys and girls interested in diving. All

Physical Exams Set

Physical examinations for all Princeton High School fall athletic teams will be held in the high school health office on the following days: football, August 27; cross country and soccer, August 30; and girls' tennis, soccer, field hockey and cheerleaders, August 31. Time for all examinations is 9 to 11 a.m.

Football equipment will be distributed to all football players, except freshmen, immediately after their exams.

All prospective candidates for fall sports must have a physical examination by the school physician before engaging in any practice session.

Personal Record Assures Golf Championship

The mark of a good golfer is to produce the best round he has ever shot when a championship is at stake, and that's what Roland Smith did Saturday at Springdale. In a playoff for the Harry Kinnell Trophy, Smith fired a 77, his 14 handicap lowering his score to a net 63.

The victim was Bill Turgeon, with whom Smith had tied a week earlier in 36 holes of medal play. Both men produced net scores of 138, necessitating an 18-hole playoff.

Smith toured the par 35-first nine in 38, topping his efforts with a birdie 2 on the 193-yard ninth. He was also just three over par on the back nine with a 39, adding another birdie 2 on the 126-yard 15th.

Turgeon, a 27-handicapper, was having his troubles. After earning a first-place tie a week ago with net rounds of 71 and 68, he required 112 strokes in a vain attempt to catch Smith. His net for the day was 85.

Middle States then played Missouri Valley and won the match in the singles competition, assuring a third-place finish in the tournament. Lapidus defeated Juan Farrow (18th in the USTA), 6-4, 7-5, repeating his earlier win over Farrow in Kalamazoo, Michigan. Other singles winners from the Middle States were Robinson, Sebastian and Tim McAvoy of Phoenixville, Pa.

FALL BROCHURE READY

In Tennis. After its successful summer season, the Princeton Community Tennis Program is preparing for fall. The next series of lessons will start on September 12 – a six-week session for all ages and abilities.

Doug MacCurdy, Director of Instruction of the Lawrenceville Tennis Camp, will head the fall teaching staff. He will be leading the junior classes as well as the adult classes.

Those interested in taking lessons should send in their applications before Labor Day weekend to be sure of obtaining first choice of class time and location. Scholarships are available for anyone needing financial assistance.

The Tennis Office is again offering an advanced adult class on Monday mornings under the direction of MacCurdy. Participants are required to come for a tryout and will be placed in one of two time slots. Registration for the Wednesday and Friday morning adult advanced groups will be accepted on a first-come basis.

All junior players interested in joining the advanced training and preparatory groups should note that these classes start September 27 at the Princeton Indoor Tennis Center.

Brochures giving details were mailed this week. Those not on the mailing list who wish to obtain a copy should call the Tennis Office at 924-4343. Copies are also available at the Princeton University Store, Hinkson's, Hulit's, the Princeton Public Library and Center Sports.

WINNERS LISTED

In Springdale Tournament. Debbie Pierson and Mary Wenzel won the annual Jean McLean Memorial Tournament at Springdale Golf Club with a net 36-hole score of 128.

Runners-up were Shirley Pearce and Mim Houghton, at 130, followed by Beverly Crane and Rose Johnson, also at 130. Cards were matched to determine second and third place winners.

FIELD LIGHTS DENIED

By West Windsor Board. The West Windsor-Plainsboro Regional Board of Education has rejected a request from the West Windsor Football Club to install lights at the Dutch Neck School field for evening practice. The action followed a hearing in which a number of area residents expressed their objections to the proposal. Previously the school board had denied the club permission to install lights at the high school field after listening to the objections of residents of that area.

Members of the Board of Education support the program being provided by the West Windsor Football Club and were hopeful that the problem could be resolved. Richard Snedeker, board president, sought and received the approval of his fellow board members to seek a meeting with representatives from the mayor's office, recreation commission, school board and football club in order to find an area within the township suitable for the installation of lights.
